FOR A BRIGHTER FUTURE

A lot can happen in 65 years. From the most humble of beginnings, Sunnyfield has grown in depth and breadth of support services. Working together with families, friends and dedicated staff, Sunnyfield provides a brighter future for people with disability.

Sunnyfield is a member based, registered not-for-profit charity. Guided by our values of respect, trust, honesty and innovation, it's our mission to enrich the lives of people with intellectual disability by creating choice, opportunities and skills for life.

Day to day, we provide over 2000 support services for people with disability, including young children, teenagers, young adults and seniors. Sunnyfield employs over 1200 staff in NSW and the ACT, to deliver accommodation services, assistance with daily life, social and community participation, supported employment and clinical services.

During the 1950's parents of children with intellectual disability were advised to send their child to an institution, as they were not able to access mainstream schooling or financial assistance for in-home support services.

1951 Enterprising Northern Beaches resident, Mrs Hazel Whiddon gathers a group of mothers of children with intellectual disability, to start a local training program for their children.

1952 The Manly Sunnyfield Association is established to provide education for students with intellectual disability aged 2 to 26 years at the Sporting Union Hall, Manly Oval.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Karen Ingram,
Sunnyfield Board Chair

On a night in October 1951, Hazel Whiddon gathered with five other mothers of children with disability at her home on Sydney's Northern Beaches. She planted with them a seed of an idea about a better life for their children. A life that would have opportunity and provide their children with something different from what was the norm for people with disability at the time. And so, on 17 March 1952, Hazel and Fred Whiddon, and 18 other dedicated, like-minded founding mums and dads, came together for the inaugural meeting of The Manly Sunnyfield Association.

In celebrating Sunnyfield's 65th Anniversary, we acknowledge every family, Member, carer, volunteer, supporter, and all of our staff, those that came before them and the many more that will follow them, for their contribution to ensuring that the founding families' aspirations and ambitious dreams – to enable people with disability to have a good life of their choosing, supported by a passionate and committed community network – have become reality for so many.

While recognising Sunnyfield's wonderful history, we also look to the future with great optimism. Today, the Sunnyfield community has grown to almost 600 Members and more than 1200 staff providing over 2000 support services for people with disability.

From humble beginnings on Sydney's Northern Beaches, Sunnyfield support services are now available from Moree, Gunnedah, Tamworth and Tweed Heads in Northern NSW, through the Hunter and Central Coast regions, across the Greater Sydney region, and stretching into the ACT.

The introduction of the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) from 1 July 2016 was a huge and positive step forward for the future of Australians with disability, their families and carers. The NDIS is also a huge and positive step forward for the rights of these Australians. For the first time, people with disability will have choice and control over the supports they receive, where they go to access them, and who they ask to provide them. This significant societal change has presented, and will continue to present, many challenges for families and carers, Sunnyfield, and the disability support sector in general. But, more importantly, it also presents many opportunities.

This year, we enlisted external consultants to review our Board and governance framework to ensure that Sunnyfield was appropriately structured to deal with the challenges and opportunities that the introduction of the NDIS presents. Whilst the review concluded that the Board is well positioned to support management and protect the interests of Members and clients through their NDIS transition, a number of recommendations for further improvement were made. One of the recommendations is to review the current requirement in the Constitution that at least 50% of the Board of Directors be Members and consider whether this percentage should be reduced to make it easier to recruit Directors with the appropriate skills and experience in the new NDIS world. We will bring forward proposals on this recommendation to next year's AGM.

As I reported at last year's AGM, we have established the Gateway 2015 Properties Trust, a registered Community Housing Provider, to hold Sunnyfield's property assets. For a number of reasons, the Board considers that it would be beneficial to separate Sunnyfield's property assets from our operations and for those property assets to be held by a Community Housing Provider. The transfer of properties into Gateway was approved by the Board during the year and is expected to be finalised in early 2018. These properties will still be effectively controlled by Sunnyfield after they are transferred, and will continue to form part of the consolidated assets of the Sunnyfield Group reported in the annual financial report.

For 65 years, Sunnyfield's core strengths have been our unwavering commitment to improving the lives of people with disability and the inclusive role that members and families play in contributing to creating positive outcomes for people with disability. And so, in the true spirit of our founding families, the Sunnyfield community continues to be united as we look to the future.

- We are united by Sunnyfield's Vision, Mission and Values
- We are united in our passion to continue Sunnyfield's legacy to create a brighter future for people with disability
- We are united by our commitment to deliver greater and equal opportunities for people with disability to engage in the life of their choosing
- We are united in our support for the successful introduction of the NDIS
- And we are united in our desire for Sunnyfield to continue its vital community role for at least another 65 years.

Karen Ingram Chair Sunnyfield

THANK YOU...

We thank Sunnyfield's Members for entrusting Sunnyfield's Directors, past and present, with the stewardship of the organisation.

- We thank the management team, and all those that have contributed to leading Sunnyfield over the past 65 years
- We thank Sunnyfield's skilled, dedicated and committed staff
- We thank all those business partners, donors and community supporters who have contributed to creating the Sunnyfield we are today
- And, most of all, we thank the families and clients who have chosen, and who continue to choose, Sunnyfield

MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

Caroline Cuddihy,
Sunnyfield CEO

This year started with gusto, as the introduction of the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) from 1 July 2016 has driven transformational change for both people with disability and disability support sector providers. As with most other service providers, Sunnyfield has operated this year in an environment where the National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA) has been building and changing the NDIS as it is being implemented. It has only been with the transition of almost 100,000 people into the NDIS that the NDIA has been able to identify and start to address policy and procedure gaps.

While dealing with these implementation challenges is a continuing work in progress, it is exciting to see that the NDIS is positively changing many lives already. Sunnyfield has assisted more than 1000 people with disability to transition to the NDIS. Clients are experiencing new activities, making personal choices, and controlling the supports they receive. Most Sunnyfield clients have chosen to stay with us as their service provider, a testament to the outcomes that they experience in their interaction with Sunnyfield. Sunnyfield has consistently championed the implementation of the NDIS. We have contributed to NDIA policy development, and we maintain an open dialogue with senior management at the NDIA, helping to ensure that the outcomes of the scheme remain focused on assisting people with disability to live the lives of their choosing and to control how they are supported.

This year marked the completion of our FY14-17 strategy, which was focused on preparing Sunnyfield for the NDIS. We have invested in the organisation through the implementation of new business systems; we have managed the financial performance to build a sustainable future; we have a robust risk and compliance framework in place; our quality management system was certified as compliant to the new ISO 9001:2015 standard and we maintained compliance with NSW Disability Service Standards; and we recruited resources to support people with disability in this most significant transition to the NDIS.

Sunnyfield and the NSW Government have worked to ensure long term organisational security for clients and families through the Crown Lands project and the Large Residential Centre (LRC) Redevelopment program. The significant investment from the NSW Government in these projects allows us to further strengthen Sunnyfield and provide clients and families with accommodation options and new services that make a real difference to their lives.

We introduced a number of new services this year that are all aimed at providing more and better services to clients and families. Early in the year we established 'You4You', an internally managed staffing pool, to ensure that as clients sought more services, Sunnyfield would be well placed to have the right staff, appropriately trained, ready to provide service. We created the Coordination of Supports team, operating independently of our existing services, so that clients with NDIS funding for this service would be assured that we are focused on achieving their goals and outcomes. And as the year was coming to an end, we opened our 'Thrive' Clinical Services Centre. This dedicated facility is staffed by qualified clinicians and provides a hub for clients and families to access a broad range of services including behaviour support, occupational therapy, speech pathology and physiotherapy.

Sunnyfield continued its long relationship with McKinsey & Co., who contributed their time and invaluable expertise pro-bono to assist with the development of our FY18-20 strategy. This exciting period of change and opportunity for people with disability presents Sunnyfield with the chance to define how we will operate in the NDIS environment. Sunnyfield's FY18-20 strategy is our blueprint for working towards our vision of excellence in supporting people with intellectual disability under the NDIS. At the heart of Sunnyfield's FY18-20 strategy are three core outcomes for clients and families: 1) 'I get more choice of what I want, where I want it,' 2) 'I experience the Sunnyfield Way every time,' and; 3) 'I control how and when I engage.'

It has been an exciting and at times, challenging year for Sunnyfield. However, we remain optimistic about the NDIS and the opportunities that it will provide for clients and families. Sunnyfield will always remain focused on providing clients and families with quality person-centred support and our new strategy aims to ensure that we can deliver this promise while allowing Sunnyfield to thrive in the new NDIS environment.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

Sunnyfield Community Services provide over 1500 support services, activities, and programs, to support people with disability to live the life they choose and achieve their individual goals and aspirations.

SUPPORTED EMPLOYMENT

Sunnyfield Enterprises provides employment for people with disability across three Sydney locations, bringing industry and community together to create sustainable, meaningful employment opportunities.

This year Sunnyfield Chatswood was transformed into a Vocational Work and Skills Training Centre. The redesign of the facilities promoting work and whole-of-life skills development for supported employees.

At Allambie Heights, Sunnyfield Enterprises further expanded the Therapeutic Goods Administration (TGA) Primary facility with the installation of a second TGA bottle filling production line. In October 2016, Enterprises successfully completed an annual external audit against the National Standards for Disability Services, across all three sites. The Auditors were impressed by the quality of the support services provided, particularly at Chatswood, where newly transitioned supported employees spoke highly of the staff and the vocational training program. Other commendations included the rights-based training for all supported employees, the dedicated Sunnyfield Response Team, and the delivery of the Certificate III Productivity Improvement Program.
