Important things to know about giving feedback

You have the right to give feedback or make a complaint. It makes us better at what we do.

If you want to give feedback you should do it as soon as you can.

You will not be treated differently for saying what you think and how you feel. If you are a client, you will not lose your service.

Sometimes we can respond to your feedback straight away and sometimes we need to find out more before we can respond. This can take time but we will tell you what is happening and when you can expect to hear from us.

Giving feedback

Feedback is telling us what you think about:

- Sunnyfield
- Our services and supports
- The work of Sunnyfield staff

Why should you give feedback?

Feedback is important for you and for us. By giving us feedback you can:

- Get the help and support you need
- Change things that make you unhappy
- Help other people who are unhappy
- Help us thank staff who do a good job
- Help us make our services better

Who can give feedback?

- Clients
- Family and friends
- Carers and guardians
- Staff
- Advocates
- Community members

What can you give feedback about?

You can give feedback about anything you think is important, for example tell us if:

- You are happy or unhappy about your supports and service
- Someone has hurt you or made you feel bad
- You do not feel safe
- Someone is doing a good job
- You have a suggestion about how we can do things better

Do you want help to give feedback?

We can also help you find someone to support you to give feedback or make a complaint. If you would like a support person to assist you please contact 1300 588 688.

You can also seek support to make a complaint from an independent advocate.
